

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An offset spacer layer for an LDD ion implantation process is formed by blanket deposition without photolithography and dry etch processes. The offset spacer layer remaining on LDD regions 5 during an ion implantation process prevents a substrate from silicon loss and dosage contamination and has densified characteristics to improve device reliability.